SAINT MOON one of a quartet trading bumps with other at intervals of the early going, established the top, gradually made her way over to the rail travelling on the backstretch, getting there by the half mile pole, carved out the pace, shadowed by PAPER CLIP out in path two, went all the way to the three-sixteenths marker before finally getting turned loose, responded well and edged away. PAPER CLIP lightly bumped at the start, attained a forward position, prompted the winner from path two, got set down for the drive home, was held at bay, managed to save second. GETMOTHERAROSE two wide onto the turn, was placed into the three path exiting it, narrowed in, fell just shy of snagging away second. TURF WAR corrected after breaking slightly to the outside, dove onto the inside route, took it until the end of the bend, was cued up angling to the outside for the drive home, ultimately getting fanned out into path five by midstretch, kicked into her best beyond the sixteenth pole en route for the final significant slice of the pot, then maintained that energy for a stretch beyond the finish line afterwards. CATCH A THRILL shook off several bumps occurring at and then after the start, staked the pace from the three path during the run around the bend, doing so as the widest of all, shifted out four wide for the drive home, made no headway. NOBLE FREUD tracked the winner from along the inside route, pulling on the bit nearly the whole way to the quarter pole, got driven out into path two spinning into the stretch, gave way. LADY WORTHINGTON eyed the pace from the pocket, came under a ride approaching the quarter pole, stepped into the lane, lacked the needed response and backed away. GRACETOWN pinged getting bumped from between rivals at times very early, cut over to the inside, kept watch on the front runners fifth in line along that route, was moved out into path two at the head of the stretch, came up empty.
